RELAUNCHING OFFICE HOURS

100K Ideas Office Hours have officially re-launched! 100K Ideas staff are available for intake and client appointments at our partner locations throughout Flint.

The Office Hours initiative was originally launched in 2019. The goal is to provide easier access to our services by setting up satellite locations in partnership with local community centers.

These locations include Berston Field House and the Flint Development Center.

As part of expanding this initiative, we launched a new location in partnership with the LatinX Technology and Community Center. Our student staff will be at each location once a week to serve Flint residents. If you are interested in meeting with us at one of these locations, feel free to walk in during our available hours (listed on the next page), or schedule an appointment using our website!

YOUTH SCOOP

June has been such an exciting month! 100K Ideas had the opportunity to meet 4 homeschoolers from the Genesee County area. The group ranged from 5-8th grade. The students learned about 100K Ideas, along with a tour of the Ferris Wheel and a visit to the Shops on Saginaw. During their visit, the students completed a problem-solving activity.

We enjoy meeting passionate youth and helping them discover more about entrepreneurship and innovation. 100K Ideas is here to help the youth of ages to encourage and motivate them towards ideas that will solve problems that affect not only themselves. 100K Ideas is a space to safely explore ideas and dive deep into the problem's relevancy.

2021 SUMMER FELLOWSHIP

100K Ideas is hosting our 3rd annual Summer Fellowship. This year we have added 3 fellows to our 100K Ideas' team. The program is for eight weeks and will take the fellows through the 100K Ideas' process for assessing ideas, they will complete a group project, and explore the entrepreneurial ecosystem that exists here in Flint.

So far the fellows have heard from several guest speakers ranging from visual marketing designers, software engineering, non-profit founders, and other small business owners. We are excited to have the fellowship in person this year and we are taking advantage of visits to places such as Factory Two, Shops on Saginaw, and even a mural tour with Placemaking. Stay tuned to read more about the fellows' experience in our upcoming blog, set to release in July!

HAPPENINGS AT 100K

MONTHLY WORKSHOPS

100K Ideas held three different workshops this past quarter. We had a Sourcing Workshop, presented by our Product Expert Tom Crampton, a Venture Capital and Angel Funding Workshop, presented by Red Cedar Ventures, and a Licensing and Permitting Workshop, presented by Khlafani Stephens. All three of these were a major success, thank you to all our guest speakers and those who attended!

BOWL FOR KIDS' SAKE

100K Ideas was able to participate in the Big Brother, Big Sister's 42nd annual Bowling for Kid's Sake. This year to maintain COVID-19 safety the organization conducted the bowling event virtually. The 100K Ideas' team was able to raise $276 so far and pledges will remain open until the end of the month. As always the team had a great time and bowled our best.

"NO JOKE" SPRING CLEANUP

Our Community Engagement Coordinator, Vivian Williams, planned a community service engagement for members of the 100K Ideas' team. This month our team participated in a spring clean-up with For-Mar Nature Center. Our staff helped to plant seeds and do some pre-season hoop house maintenance. We were excited to lend our time to help this great organization!

PRICELESS DREAMS CLOTHING DRIVE

Using Genesee Serves, 100K Ideas selected a volunteer opportunity to work with Priceless Dreams, a local non-profit with a mission to inspire individuals to reach their goals and quality of life by removing obstacles; thus increasing chances for success. The 100K Team collected clothes throughout the month of June and donated them on June 30th.

MI STEM FORWARD

100K Ideas is officially a partner for the MI Stem Forward Program. MI Stem Forward was created to help pair college students to Michigan-based STEM-related employers in need of summer interns. The goal is to increase access to internship opportunities, hopefully leading to talent retention throughout the state. The program provides coverage for the costs of the intern and payroll support. JUST ANOTHER DAY AT 100K...

PROJECT MANAGER CORNER

MARKETING

WRITTEN BY TORRIAH BATES

Throughout my experience here at 100K Ideas, I've received a number of questions in regard to marketing. As you begin to start your own business one of the key things is promoting your product or service effectively. Marketing informs, engages, builds reputations, sells, and grows businesses. In order to ensure that your marketing techniques are effective, each entrepreneur should have a marketing strategy in place. Once a strategy is created your business will begin to generate sales. A marketing strategy helps ensure that you are targeting the right audience by providing them with content that is appealing and relevant to their liking. So, why should you create a marketing strategy? There are a number of reasons but I'm only going to discuss two that I find to be most important.

REACHED TARGETED AUDIENCE

As an innovator you know how to express how good your overall product or service is but, that isn't what the audience wants to hear. No matter how well you talk about the product your audience wants to know what solutions this product or service can do that will solve their problems. Each message you are trying to send must be tailored to the platform you are using to engage with the audience. Whether that's through the website, social media, or commercial ads. A huge way to reach your audience is through.

RELEVANT CONTENT

Each product or service that is being advertised should have relevant and consistent information that can easily be associated to your brand. As you focus on content marketing, you make a strategic approach that focuses on distributing valuable, relevant, and consistent content. First time entrepreneurs tend to spend money on the wrong things when investing into marketing. A great way to save money and time on marketing is by having a plan that includes relevant content.

I hope this brief information on the importance of creating a marketing strategy was helpful to you all!
